CORPORATE COORDINATOR'S REPORT

Judith Franks and Corky Fessia will represent us at this year's ALLOW Conference, set for May 5-7 in Tempe, Arizona.

ALLOW stands for the alliance of local lesbian organizations for women. SACWN is one of the founding members of the group, which includes organizations like ours from all over the country, primarily the Western states.

Among other benefits, ALLOW members receive member privileges at each other's events. This is the fourth year for an annual conference to share ideas and resources. Anyone interested in attending should call Judith or Corky for details.

NETWORKING COMMITTEE REPORT

The Networking Committee was pleased to see the overwhelmingly positive response to our request for listings in the soon to be published SACWN Directory. Of the 129 people who attended the March SACWN event, half of the group asked to be listed in the directory and another quarter expressed interest in advertising their business. Let's Be Direct! If you haven't filled out your SACWN Directory Form, please do so right away. May 31st is the deadline for all listings. Look for our SACWN Directory in August.

Under the direction of Ellie Zacks, our special interest groups continue to flourish.

Recently someone asked why a $2.00 donation was requested at a singles event. We want the subscribership to know that each special interest group functions on its own and occasionally asks for small donations to cover the costs of flyers, photo copying, decorations and name tags. We have asked that if a donation is requested by a special interest group, the flyer advertising the event clearly states the cost. We hope this clears up any confusion.

Finally, our Networking Committee has been brainstorming for the June 16th Networking Program. Thanks to the energy and ideas of Barbara Brass, Ellen French, Rosanna Herber, Linda Kingsley, Sharon Liberatore, Elaine Quabner, and Ellie Zacks, we have a creative, intriguing evening planned for you. More details on this program will come in the June Newsletter.

BOOK REVIEW

OF LOVE AND GLORY

by Evelyn Kennedy

Published by NAIAD PRESS, $8.95, 181 pages

Reviewed by Gretchen Jung - SACWN Book Club

In the postscript to her novel, Ms. Kennedy discusses the contributions made by women during World War II. She briefly itemizes some of the sacrifices made by nurses and WACs in both theaters of war. This novel is meant as a tribute to those courageous women. The main characters are Maggie Conover, free-lance war correspondent, and Lieutenant Jennifer (Jenny) Kincade, Army Nurse. Perhaps to continue the flavor of those times the book is written in a 50's style.

Jenny is married to David who Maggie early on describes as a "jerk" and who Jenny later discovers is a cowardly, insensitive, sadistic, bully who beats and rapes his wife. David's character is too one-dimensional to be believed. He never does or says anything that gives the reader even a hint as to why she married him.

As could be predicted, Maggie and Jenny get together. They make love and David shows up. He gets Jenny to come away with him by threatening to expose both women as Lesbians. He abuses her in a variety of ways but "Jenny felt defeated. There was nothing she could do without destroying the people she cared most about." Jenny is sent with the invasion forces to Anzio beach. She is wounded and horribly disfigured. Now she no longer meets David's ideal of what a wife should look like. So he accepts the offer of a divorce. Maggie loves Jenny for who she is not what she looks like so they get back together.

Obviously the moral of the story is that women can be together when men no longer desire them. The valiant women who are being honored here deserve a novel that reflects their courage and does not necessitate crippling the heroine so she can live with love and dignity.

LESBIAN NATIONAL CONFERENCE

The organizers of a proposed National Lesbian Conference are requesting assistance in the planning process for the event.

Why do we need this conference? We need to know who we are nationally. We need to know how our energies are being used. We need to know what our priorities are. We need to work together.

So many lesbians are doing vital work creating change to better this world, yet our issues as lesbians are rarely in the forefront for social change.

Why?

It may be that we have not taken the needed time to create a space for us to really discuss what our issues are and how to best promote our concerns on a wide variety of agendas.

We need to acknowledge and validate our vast differences of life styles and work methods. We need to develop ways to help us accomplish goals without pushing those powerful "territorial buttons" that block us from trusting each other.

Our greatest strength is our diversity. Lesbians of every race, class, religion, ability and ethnicity must be involved in all aspects of planning the conference. Whether you are a courageous lesbian who deals with local, state or national governmental bodies, an amazon challenging the might of the world's militaries or the average dyke who deals with varying degrees of homophobia while living the reality of loving women, all our voices must combine to form a community. As we learn to tap into the power of our community, we become an awesome force to be reckoned with.

Our lesbian agenda must come through collaborative means to form a lasting foundation. Dealing with differences among ourselves is often hard but we are strengthened when it is done successfully. Now is the time to use creative means to get past our "isms," work together and realize our potential. And, we need to be able to laugh together.

An ad-hoc group of 40 lesbians traveled to Washington, D.C. the weekend of Sept. 24-25 to discuss organizing a national lesbian conference. A brief summary of some of the recommendations from that meeting:

1. This conference should be by, for, and about lesbians.
2. The conference should be planned according to feminist principles and process.
3. The planning groups and conference should represent our diversity and welcome all lesbians.

Some of the suggested topics to be addressed at the conference: lesbian legal rights, visibility, day care, racism, custody, women and AIDS, fair housing, violence, job security, youth, coming out, money issues, unity on definitions, establishing a national lesbian organization, and the list goes on.

We ask you to talk among your friends and communities to determine what resources you can add to organizing this conference.

We have received a small grant from the March on Washington as seed money for outreach, but, of course, we will need more. Contributions are welcome and encouraged.

We are committed to this conference being planned by a working coalition and have identified some of the groups important for input:

1. National/state organizations: focusing on policy issues affecting lesbian lives.
2. Academics/writers: Lesbian academics, writers of books, journals, articles.
3. Service providers: Doctors, lawyers, social workers, alternative healers, etc. who are lesbian and or dealing with issues affecting lesbian lives.
4. Grassroots/lesbian feminists: Lesbians involved in grassroots organizing, activists, artists, photographers, documenters, etc.
5. Women in the trades: Lesbians working in traditional and non-traditional jobs.

If you are interested in being a part of the Lesbian Conference, please write to National Lesbian Conference, P.O. Box 3057, Albany, N.Y. 12203 or call Libby Post (518) 463-3522 or Michelle Crone (518) 463-1051.
